

June Progress:

1. I completed reading the summaries of all the papers you shared. To strengthen my understanding, I completed an "Estimation Theory" course on YouTube, after which I revisited the papers for a more in-depth reading. The derivation sections remain outstanding, and I plan to complete them this month.
2. I have begun coding ViT Regression. As most of my time this month went toward reading and reviewing the papers, this task is not yet complete. However, I am aiming to finish it by the end of this week and will share the results with you shortly after.

July Research Plan:

1. Complete the remaining coding tasks and share the results.
2. Move on to working with the data movie.
3. Complete the first draft of my paper.
